REFUGE

September 28 through December 7, 2017
Closing Reception: December 7, 6 - 8 PM

Emory Center for Ethics

Road after Refuge hosts pieces produced by 17 refugee youth living in Georgia’s Clarkston community. Their work represents the strength and resilience needed to begin a new life in a new country. Each piece showcases the individual artist’s experiences in their home countries they had to flee as well as the new adversities they face here in the United States. These pieces were produced as part of International Rescue Committee (IRC) in Atlanta’s Summer Enrichment Camp.

If you would like to support the artists, please note that art work in this exhibit will be sold during a silent auction at the closing reception. All proceeds will go toward the IRC in Atlanta’s youth programs.
