

Now accepting applications for the 2009 Servant Leadership Summer Law Internships.

What:

Law students will be part of a group of up to twelve interns from across Emory University. Program runs from May 19-July 11.

During the internship period students will work thirty hours weekly in a local Atlanta area non-profit and undertake four hours of classroom work weekly.

Law students will receive a stipend of $5000.

Who:

Any full-time Emory University law student interested in public interest law including indigent criminal defense, asylum/refugee and immigrant issues, child advocacy, etc.

Apply now: Applications are due no later than 5:00 p.m. on March 20, 2009. Students will be informed of their acceptance no later than March 27.

For application materials and list of internship position descriptions go to www.emory.edu or contact Edward Queen, equeen@emory.edu